Canadian Airman-Author Nearly Four Years as German Prisoner

NEW YORK, July 6 (CP)—Reminiscence of life in Canada's lonely sub-Artic and observations on Eskimo character form the theme of a book by a Scottish-Canadian author, or entitled "Where the High Winds Blow."

THE BOOK IS WRITTEN BY Bruce D. Campbell and based on his experiences before the war as an apprentice and later as a fur post manager for the Hudson's Bay Company. When war came Mr. Campbell joined the RCAF, was shot down and eventually captured by the Germans and spent three years and 10 months as a prisoner of war. While in captivity he jotted down the recollections which make up this book, published by Charles Scribner's Sons in New York.

Mr. Campbell, a Canadian of Scottish parentage, writes of the period from 1937 to 1937 during which he spent the winters at Wolstenholme near the western end of the Hudson Strait and at the head of the Labrador peninsula, and at Cape Smith and Port Harrison on the eastern shores of Hudson Bay.

His war experiences were an adventure in themselves. Shot down over Berlin, he bailed out of his bomber, escaped into Holland and was headed for Kilmeneven when he was captured by the Germans. From then until the war ended he was in prison camps in Poland, on the Baltic in Bavaria and in eastern Germany.

DURING HIS CAPTIVITY, Mr. Campbell encountered an Irish artist, Philip Bear, who has spent two summers aboard a whaler in polar waters. Mr. Bear has illustrated the book.

The author found early in his days with the Hudson Bay Company that he had to learn the Eskimo language in order to trade with the Eskimos. As an apprentice he had to learn the hardships and discomforts of conducting trading operations in the post in bitter winter weather when one's hands stuck to everything.

Govt. Outlay for Subsidies Over 3 Hundred Millions

BY VICTOR MACKIE
EDMONTON, July 6.—Canada's subsidy policy, part of the controls program designed to keep prices at ceilings, has cost the government more than $300,000,000 since its inception December 1, 1941 and indications are that the outlay for subsidies in the Dominion will go up rather than down if the United States does not act quickly to re-establish its office of price administration and restore ceilings on prices in that country.

IN THE SINGLE YEAR 1943 it cost the Canadian Government $50,078,327 to pay out subsidies and absorb losses sustained in its commodity trading system, an essential part of the subsidy program.

For the first half of 1944 the cost of subsidies has shown no appreciable decrease and while no official figures have been released, it is estimated the subsidy cost for the first six months of this year was in excess of $47,000,000. That subsidy outlay was increased there was some semblance of control on prices across the border.

THE EMPHASIS during the past year has been on reducing and eliminating subsidies even at the cost of some moderate price increases. Thus a large number of subsidies both on imports and domestic products, which could not be considered appropriate to the changed conditions of the transition period were removed from the subsidy list and that list was narrowed down to basic foods, certain farm supplies, textiles and fuel. Even in these fields a beginning was made in subsidy reduction including the removal of most subsidies on imported wool and a reduction in the major subsidies on imported cotton on March 1 this year.

THE SUBSIDY BILL in the period December 1, 1941 to December 31, 1943 is made up as follows: Import subsidies, $138,695,078; Domestic subsidies, $39,326,947; making a total of $278,022,025. Added to that total are losses on commodity trading, $40,585,880; plus administrative expenses and miscellaneous items, $3,423,590, making a grand total of $352,782,501.

It is just as essential to the Canadian taxpayer, as to the man who pays the spot in the United States that immediate action is taken to restore controls across the border.

General Unable Get Hotel Room
CALGARY, (CP)—The general hotel accommodation situation in Calgary for stampede week is bad as general has discovered.

TAXPAYERS IN CANADA who profess puzzlement at why Finance Minister Laidlaw's budget did not introduce sweeping tax reductions need only look at the close to $100,000,000 subsidy bill that had to be paid by the government last year to maintain price ceilings. For this year the estimated cost of government subsidies to maintain price controls—before the blow-up in the United States—was $90,000,000, but if the OPA mis-up continues across the line for some time it may add another $50,000,000 to that bill in Canada, to maintain ceilings, according to an unofficial estimate.

However, the general and his wife will not have to sleep on park bench. The hotel to which they were first booked for accommodation arranged to billet them in a private home.

Sugar Plantations Attract Servicemen

PIETERMARITZBURG, Natal, June 6.—(CP)—Within the next six months at least 80 South African ex-soldiers will be settled by the South African sugar industry on land, within the existing Natal coastal sugar belt.

A total of 250,000 tons of cane-100,000 tons of which was recently allowed by the government—is being set aside for the scheme. Each ex-soldier settler is allocated land to produce 3,000 tons of cane a year. About 30 allocations have already been made and the remaining 50 men will be allocated their farms within the next six months.

When government schemes are ready at three other places—Pongola, Umfolosi and Umhlati, also in Natal—more men will be settled on cane land.

New Zealand Gets Canada Cigarettes

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—June 6 (CP)—Canadian Cigarettes made a spectacular appearance on the New Zealand market when people here queued up waiting their turn to buy them from a large department store. This in spite of the fact that they were selling at 35 cents for packet of 20.

Canadian cigarettes had been practically unknown in New Zealand. Before the war a large number of English and a smaller number of American cigarettes were sold, but since the war began New Zealand has been wholly dependent on its own tobacco products. However a tobacco famine has been created by a recent factory labor shortage.

Consequently shipment of Canadian cigarettes was rushed to the extent that most retailers sold their whole supply on the first day. The demand would be less keen in normal times, but if the price could be reduced there would probably be a steady market for Canadian cigarettes in New Zealand.

METHOD CHANGED
The size of a cigarette was determined by the weight of its protrusion into the middle of the last century, now it is measured by the diameter of the muzzle in inches or centimeters.

Montreal's Latest Moral Clean-Up Campaign Hits Girdles, Bathing Suits, Mannequins

MONTREAL MORAL "TIDY-UP": Displays like this will soon be a thing of the past, in Montreal with the "tidy-up" campaign, started by the Roman Catholic Church, admitted a success and "in the city to stay." Girdle posters in street cars have already been blacked out with only the face and ankles of the model showing.

This show display is considered to alluring by the authorities, and like others of its kind is on the way out, Montreal police say they are getting plenty of co-operation in the "tidy-up" drive.

Bathing suits in the stores have to be draped just so, and even the dummies that display dresses in the store windows are coming in for official censure if they do not measure up to moral specifications of authorities.

Less Interest on Bonds Seen As Canadian Dollar at Par

"Five years overdue," says Premier Ernest Manning's comment Saturday on the federal government's decision to return the Canadian dollar on a par level with that of the United States.

THE PREMIUM on the American dollar "has consistently worked as an unfavorable tariff against the Canadian consumer," the premier remarked, adding that he welcomed the change especially for its prospect of reduction in interest payments on Alberta bonds in the New York market.

"Although there will be no maturity for five years, the saving will be quite substantial," Mr. Manning said.

The premier said he did not think levelling of the Canadian dollar with that of the United States would have any adverse effect on American investment of industry within the province.

BY REFUNDING some $26,000,000 of Alberta bonds in the New York market last October, the province made a worthwhile saving in the payment of exchange interest, said J. F. Percival, deputy provincial treasurer.

"It is a belated action but it will result in substantial savings in adjustments on bonds still outstanding and not yet deposited under the debt reorganization scheme," he said.

"There will no doubt be some price adjustments in bond prices as between internal issues and United States issues," he said.

HE STATED that over 97.5 per cent of Alberta bonds have been deposited.

"It should enable governments to replace maturing bonds repayable in U.S. funds with Canadian pay issues," the deputy minister said.

The City of Edmonton will benefit by approximately $35,000 annually through the reduction in the 10 per cent exchange rate, City Commissioner John Hodgson stated Saturday.

HE SAID THAT repayments of principal on the series of refundings carried through last year, and early this year had not become effective until 1944. If the parity in exchange is maintained until then the city will save approximately $26,500 annually in the payments.

THE CITY COMMISSIONERS, in the negotiations refunding the city's debt, stipulated that first repayments of the serial bonds would not become effective until 1944.

This was done in expectation of parity between the countries exchange being restored in the interval between the refunding and the time for making first payments on the new issue.

Aussies Celebrate Wool Anniversary

SYDNEY, Australia, July 6 (CP)—Australia has just celebrated the 150th anniversary of the founding of her wool industry in the midst of world reports of half-died, half-starving millions.

It was in 1788 that the first merino arrived in Australia and John MacArthur, an enterprising young New South Wales Army captain began the industry which is now one of Australia's main sources of wealth.

MACARTHUR TURNED his attention to wool when nearly all other officers in the new colony were making fortunes in the fur trade.

His first efforts were unsuccessful. Then in May, 1796, some merinos, bred from the celebrated Escorial stock, which had been presented to the Dutch government by the King of Spain were purchased and brought to Australia.

In 1801, experts in England declared that wool brought to London by MacArthur was equal to the best Spanish wool.

MacArthur then asked the British government, as rulers of the colony, for more pasture land. In 1804, he was given a grant of 5,000 acres in perpetuity.

Need Population, Minister Warns

SYDNEY, Australia, July 6 (CP)—Federal government ministers are sounding warnings that Australia must populate to ensure future security.

The deputy Prime Minister, Francis Forde, sums up the position in this phrase: "Unless the country is populated it can not be held."

Mr. Forde points out that Australia, which now has a population of 7,000,000 will otherwise reach a population peak of 8,500,000 in 1960 and will then retrogress and perish.

IMMIGRATION minister Calwell, says that immigrants are an essential need to the development of Australia.

He points out that the Commonwealth government has already devised "a bold immigration policy" under which 70,000 will come to Australia each year, but that shipping difficulties are holding up implementation of the program.

Mr. Calwell says it is doubtful whether private shipping companies will be moving more than half the 70,000 migrants provided for in the migration plan by the end of 1947, and that the Commonwealth government may have to build its own ships.

ANOTHER PLAN under consideration by the cabinet is government purchase of victory ships, 20 of which are reported to be lying idle in America.

Beginning with Rutherford B. Hayes, in 1877, the time in office for presidents of the United States has averaged four years for Republicans, and more than nine years for Democrats.

Mexico's Voters Disarmed Before Presidential Election

By Mary Oberly
MEXICO CITY, (ONA)—Mexico is being "de-pistolized." In preparation for the presidential elections Sunday, all permits to carry guns are being revoked. Moreover, any person who approaches a polling-booth with any kind of weapon is liable to six months in prison.

With this and other measures, Mexican authorities are hoping to prevent a recurrence of the widespread violence that took place on election day in 1940 when more than 100 died in street fighting between opposing factions.

Government Control
Polling-booths will be set up by government authorities in contrast to the former practice which gave control of the voting locations to the party representatives who were first on the scene election day morning.

As a result of this former law, partisans or rival parties fought it out with guns and knives for the control of many of the booths.

The new law also provides that all presidential candidates shall appear on a single ballot which can be marked in secret. Formerly the voter had to ask for the ballot of the party for which he wished to vote—rather a dangerous procedure if the booth was in the hands of armed members of a rival group.

Prior Registration
The authorities have carried out prior registration of voters. Although no final announcement has been made by the interior department of the number registered, it is expected to reach more than 2,500,000.

Those not registered have cause to worry, for the new election law provides from three to six months in jail and fines ranging from $2 to $40, as well as possible loss of all civil rights for one year, for failure to go to the polls.

War-time Corvettes Become 'Tin Cans'

HAMILTON, July 6 (CP)—Veterans of the Battle of the Atlantic seven Canadian corvettes will soon head back over the ocean waters they so often prowled in search of enemy submarines.

BUT, AS THEY depart on this last voyage, these ships of the Canadian Navy will no longer be recognizable as corvettes. They will be bound for Europe as "tin cans"—metal containers packed with life-saving foods for starving millions.

The ships recently purchased by the Dominion Foundry and Steel Company from War Assets Corporation are being torn down and their steel plates melted and re-rolled for peace-time use. High speed automatic machines are turning the former corvettes into sanitary metal containers at the rate of 20,000 an hour on each manufacturing line.

IN THEIR STEEL hulls and deck plates, according to the American Can Company, which turns out millions of food cans each year, there is enough material for cans to provide food for a city the size of Three Rivers, Quebec or Victoria, B.C. for a year. It is estimated the corvettes contain enough metal for 62,000,000 cans, enough to provide 43,000 persons with one can of milk, meat, fruit and vegetables each and every day for a year. Laid end to end, the cans would form literally a pipeline of food 4,500 miles long—a distance almost from Halifax to Greece.

The ships are being dismantled in Hamilton Bay after having been moved up the St. Lawrence River, and through Lake Ontario, first to be torn down in HMCS Brandon, whose fine war record included many thrilling encounters in the Atlantic. Others awaiting salvage are: HMCS Forest Hill, Chilliwack, Queneau, Dawson and Vancouver.

Two Unbeaten Moundsmen To Pitch Tonight at Renfrew Park

Douziech and Belter Clash As Cardinals Meet Eskimos

The surprise package to date in the Junior league circuit is the 20-year-old Leo Douziech, Cardinal pitcher. And this is keeping in mind that young Bill Price, second-sacker of the Eskimos, was still pacing the hitters as of the last averages.

Fresh from campaigning in the Junior circuit a season ago the broad-shouldered Douziech, pronounced Dou-ze-ye, has clicked for a 3-0 record in the win and lost department at Renfrew park.

At this time the fans are solidly behind the right-hander. They have come to him with the earnestness of the ex-Junior league fireballer. Those close to him say that he still has it, despite his successes in the Junior circuit. This is no flattery.

He can go on winning indefinitely, as far as the grandstand crowd and the guys who sit in the sun seats are concerned.

Of course Bert Culver, manager of the Eskimos, is keen to snap the Douziech win streak. That's why he's sending Eddie Letty, Belter's right-hander, to pitch Saturday's attraction, starting at 6:45 p.m.

Belter, once a Canadian army baseball player, has been better than a firecracker himself. Leo Douziech has too. In the meantime, the standing of the Unbeaten Hurriers club, The Belter record stands at four wins.

So will be Belter against Douziech, a giant against a giant. Little against a little when the game square away tonight.

Runs could be had to get, too.

Ready For Big Effort Tonight

The long awaited meeting between Cards' young twirler, Leo Douziech, and Eddie Letty, Belter's right-hander, takes place at Renfrew park Saturday. Both sport undefeated records. Douziech, left, has turned in a trio of victories for the league-leading Birds. Belter, not long out of the Canadian army, has gone this mark one better for the Bert Culver-led Eskimos.

Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown. And uneasy must lie the heads of Manager Dave Douziech and Coach Jack Arbour of the Allan cup winning Stampede Banders. All signs point to the need for a rebuilding job in defence of the 1946-47 ice lanes in defence of their dearly won honors.

Snead Was Balking On British Open

COLUMBUS, (AP) — Now it can be told that Sam Snead, the Hot Springs, Va., slinger, who Friday won the British open golf championship, twice balked on making the trip to England.

In fact, it took a lot of eleven-hour taking by Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers' association, and L. D. Icky, Wilson Bros., Sporting Goods Co. executive, and a putting lesson by the famed Walter Hagen to get him to make the trip.

Although arrangements for his airplane passage to Britain already had been made, Snead walked off the 10th green after his final match in the Inverness invitational tournament at Toledo, Ohio, 10 days ago and announced, "I'm not going."

His putter had gone sour. Corcoran immediately called Hagen and as dusk settled over the "Hot Springs" took him to a practice green and gave him a lesson. He explained to Snead that he was hitting the ball on the down stroke and he should hit it on the upswing.

Snead flew to New York from where he was to leave on the night of the 10th. He was back in Columbus, Pa., 24 hours and again Sam balked.

But Corcoran said that he could see no point in going in view of his bad putting. Corcoran, who had been talking to Snead, finally agreed to go.

Now he's the British open champion.

Nick Wisnock Batters Par In Ontario Open Triumph

HAMILTON, (CP) — Nick Wisnock, amateur from the Toronto Scarborough club, put together two sparkling five-hole par rounds on Friday for a 36-hole total of 134 strokes to clinch the Ontario open golf championship.

The Scarborough ace is expected to compete in the Canadian amateur at Nayfale Golf and Country club later in the month. Wisnock's closest opponent on the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole medal play tournament, Willie Lamb of Toronto, needed a 71 on the last 18 and wound up with 140.

In Great Form
Wisnock played even better golf Friday than the workmanlike rounds he put together in the Canadian open at Montreal Beaconsfield last week. He was runner-up, needing a 71 on the last 18 and wound up with 140.

Early Entries In For Golf Tourney

Johnny Letke, former Edmonton Country club tilter, is anxious to get at the business of the Alberta Amateur Golf tournament. The provincial classic gets underway at Highlands Golf club, Edmonton, next Thursday morning.

Letke was the first entry filed with the tournament secretary. Letke had hardly indicated his intention of going after the laurels presently held by Henry Martell when Dr. W. C. (Bill) Broadfoot got on the line.

Stines then entries have been coming fairly steadily. The tournament was last held in 1942. Only 39 entries—an all-time low—were received. Bill is optimistic that this mark will be bettered by plenty when he closes the books Monday, 8 p.m.

City Missionary Reports Experiences With Natives

BY HELEN FERRIS

The Swazi tribes of South Africa are friendly and gifted, according to Miss Bertha Parker, 11623-88 street, who returned to the city last week from eight years' missionary service in Swaziland. (Swaziland is one of the three British protectorates included in the Union of South Africa).

MISS PARKER WENT there early in 1938, after teaching for six years in Alberta and taking a three-year missionary training course at the Nazarene Bible School in Red Deer. At the end of a year's furlough, she plans to resume her interesting work as principal of the Brenersdorp (town) Nazarene School.

"The Swazis are very musical and rhythmic," she told us in a recent interview. "You touch them the tune of a song, and they immediately provide their own harmonies for it. The harmonizing in their native songs is lovely. They're also clever speakers, with a genius for apt illustrations."

"THEY GRASP NEW LANGUAGES quickly, and are eager for knowledge. Education is not compulsory, and some of the native preachers lack its advantages, but they are trying to learn by themselves, and particularly to master English. These native preachers, educated or otherwise, are very fine persons," the missionary added.

"The Swazis have quite a sense of humor," she added, "but they are kind and never laugh at you. They are readily responsive to the gospel message, although there is still a strong belief in witchcraft among them—many of their doctors practice it, involving some rather terrible rites—and a life of great fear is so inbred in them through pagan beliefs and practices that it is difficult for them to adjust to the freedom of Christianity."

TODAY'S MESSAGE

The Art Of Prayer

Once when the Apostles came upon Jesus at prayer, they were so overcome by the sight they cried out, "Lord, teach us how to pray." This is the wish of every zealous Christian who yearns, through prayer, to find the quickest and surest way to God.

Prayer is man's way of conversing with God. It is the means he uses to praise His Maker, to ask Him for strength and courage to overcome evil. It is his manner of approaching Him for the favors his heart desires. Prayer is fundamentally an acknowledgment that God is our Master, and that we are utterly dependent upon Him for all things.

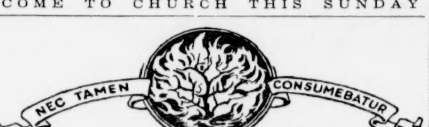

To learn how to pray it is necessary only to remember how Christ, the great Exponent of Prayer, paid tribute to His Father in heaven. We learn from Him that solitude is conducive to fruitful prayer. At times, Jesus went apart into the desert; at other times, He sought the solitude of the mountain. Frequently, even while walking with the Apostles, He was lost in silent prayer.

Following this example, we should seek to remove ourselves in spirit, at least — from the bustle and distractions of life to meditate upon sacred things, to remember for what we were born, to resolve to improve ourselves spiritually.

Primarily Jesus taught us that prayer should be a habit — that there are no times or places or circumstances when a man may not reach out to God. The Perfect Man prayed in suffering, especially on the eve of His trial and execution, but He prayed also in glad moments.

We should remember that Jesus did not pray for Himself, but for others. That was His final lesson. Man will almost instinctively pray for his own needs, but Christ wants us to pray out of love also for those who are his brothers in His name.

Countess Sees Church Leaders On Evacuations

Countess Fraya von Molke, widow of the Silesian nobleman who headed the German anti-Nazi resistance which culminated in the attempted assassination of Hitler, has conferred in Geneva with church leaders in the hope of arranging a more humane evacuation of Germans from the eastern areas.

THE COUNTESS, who hopes to be able to improve the condition of 5,000,000 still to be evacuated, has a special interest in 400 people of her own community, most of whom are Lutherans. She seeks to have them moved as one group rather than as individuals.

Her estate, which lies between the two Neisse rivers, is in the Russian zone and probably will be divided. Malnutrition in this area is serious, and coupled with typhoid has raised the death rate to serious proportions. There are no children alive under two years of age, she said.

WHEN THE RUSSIANS were over-running Poland last spring the countess elected to stay in Silesia because of her anti-Nazi record. Recalling the resistance group which met on her estate, she revealed that Protestants and Catholics were involved as well as union leaders, socialists and army men. These underground leaders had been convinced, she explained, that the social, political and economic reconstruction of Germany must be done by her husband's organization.

HER ACCOUNTS of the work done by her husband's organization were verified by Hans Schoenfeld, one of the staff of the World Council of Churches who said that von Molke had been head of a group whose intervention with the Nazis saved the lives of a million Russian prisoners-of-war.

A Deserved Rebuke

Generally the elders rebuke the youngsters, but this rebuke was in reverse. A church school boy, a lad in his early twenties to a couple of ladies of uncertain years.

We were visiting as listener and worshipper in a certain western church. The youth beside us was also a visitor. This was evident when out-of-town folks were asked to stand just in back of us sat a couple of women who whispered through all the early part of the service.

That morning there was a service of "The Wonders of God's Love" children. One lad, little more than a toddler, was restless and naughty. One of the cackling sisters in back of us said to her friend, "That boy should be spanked." This is where the hero spoke up. In perfectly controlled tones the youth, addressing the two women, said, "I think people who talk in church should be spanked. If they were, for we hardly heard another whisper out of them!"

The lack of reverence evidenced in some churches is atrocious. Why can't we study to be quiet? Oh, for a new atmosphere of meditation

Pants Sent To Calgary Mayor

It has long been an established fact that Calgary leans heavily on Edmonton for favors, but the limit of dependence of the southern city on the capital came Saturday when Calgary's Mayor J. C. Watson appeared to Edmonton to provide riding breeches to permit him to take part in Calgary's stampee parade.

As usual when Calgary appealed for help from Edmonton it was forthcoming, and Mayor Watson will have a resplendent pair of riding breeches supplied him with the compliments of an Edmonton clothing manufacturing firm.

Coal Shortage
An acute coal shortage faces the province of Alberta next winter and householders are urged to lay in their winter stock immediately, Premier Ernest Manning Premier of Alberta stated Saturday.

RAILWAY FACILITIES for the movement of coal will be at the present time, but will be in short supply after harvesting commences, Premier Manning stated.

Audience Lauds Varsity Players
A large audience in Convocation Hall Friday night lauded the efforts of the University of Alberta Drama Society Provincial Players, in their presentation of three sparkling comedies. Under the direction of Sidney Risk, M.A., the players handled their part well, making the most out of the lively dialogues.

THE EDMONTON presentation, to be repeated Saturday night, marks the concluding performance of the players, following a tour of 35 Alberta communities.

Lawrie Levine, in the title role of "The Boor", brought hearty laughter in his fierce condemnation of the fair sex, while John Lean, as the subject of his wrath, gave an excellent performance as a temperamental young widow.

"To Meet The Chinooks", a lively story of an English lord and his wife visiting the untamed west, was aptly handled.

STAN SWAREN'S interpretation of the penniless but proud Lord Satterthwaite, brought a round of applause. Alisa Mitchell gave a clever performance as the typical western girl, while Sir Barton was good as Sam, the hen-pecked hotel keeper. Peter Peterson was a warm-hearted human parson.

The show was produced by O. Stanley Swarens. Stage and lighting were handled by Jim Barton.

Pole Discover Break-in Attempt
An attempted break-in at the Chequer Lunch, 9460 Jasper avenue, was discovered by members of the fair on July 2 m. Saturday. When checking the district police noticed that a screen had been pulled down from a window at the rear of the premises and that the glass on the upper half of the window was broken immediately above the window catch.

Lack of Oxygen Kills Lake Fish
Most humans avoid the odor of decaying fish but when a body of fresh water gives off the unpleasant effluvia it also gives rise to rumors that the water with its offensive smell has been officially condemned. But if more humans would take an interest in the marine resources there would be less odor, less rumor and happier life for both human and fish.

The promotion of Constable Roy L. Dick to the rank of sergeant was announced Saturday morning from city police headquarters. The new sergeant has been a member of the force here for the past 15 years.

July Again Bids to Surpass Record June as Edmonton's Most Popular Month for Marriage

Unromantic Statistics Show Romance Blossoms all Year

The fashion magazines, those who compose love ballads, and romance writers—they're all wrong when it comes to the old tradition about June being the exclusive month for marriage.

At least as far as Edmonton is concerned. According to figures compiled by the department of Vital Statistics, July outdid June for Edmonton weddings both in 1944 and 1945.

In June of 1944, 184 couples walked down the aisle. July smashed this record with 222 weddings, the highest monthly total for the year. In June, 1945, 196 weddings were recorded. July again proved the winning date with 222 weddings.

This year June is away out ahead with 273 weddings, one of the highest monthly figures recorded. But if history repeats itself, Cupid will again surprise himself in July, perhaps setting an all-time record for the city.

The other 10 months, "who also ran", have been Cupid's allies, too. They did their bit in 1945 to bring the yearly marriage total to 2,098, an average of about 170 per month.

Double Ring Ceremonies Fail to Win Favor Here

Double ring ceremonies may be the rage in New York. The vogue in Eastern Canada. But in Edmonton, the wedding ceremony at which the bride alone receives a ring, remains tops.

Only about 10 or 15 percent of all the city's brides and grooms, according to city jewellers, purchase the two rings. Perhaps it's because the groom has a slight tendency to regard his ring as a kind of miniature handcuff rather than as a pledge of lifetime devotion.

"Most men just don't care to wear one," said one jeweller, "although in the past few years, there has been a slight increase in our double ring sales. This is due partly to the influx of Americans, with whom these are highly popular, and partly to Canadians of European descent, who favor two-ring ceremonies."

The couple who wish to exchange wedding rings can obtain them identical in design or engraved for the bride-elect and plain for the groom-elect. The average man usually passes over the engraved ring for the plain wedding band. Many Canadians of Ukrainian descent favor an initial signet ring.

This choice has its origin in early history. Centuries ago the signet, or seal ring, was considered a promise of good faith and many authorities contend that our modern wedding rings stem from that fact. In the early days, too, the ring was worn on whatever finger the wearer fancied. Today the bride wears her wedding ring on her left hand because it's nearer the heart. As for the groom, should he receive a ring, too, he can wear it more or less as he wishes, with preference to the third or little finger, of his left hand.

Modern Brides are Slaves To Age - Old Superstitions

The "musts" and "must not's" observed by brides when planning their weddings are flavored with witchcraft. Almost every detail of the modern wedding, except the religious elements, sprang from some ancient superstition.

The white gown symbolizes purity. The "something old" warns the bride not to break her ties with the past. The "something new" expresses her hope for the future. The "something blue" goes back to the early Israelites who believed blue the color of purity, love and fidelity.

The custom of giving the bride away dates back to the time when a girl actually was sold. The custom of the bridegroom having a best man is a heritage from the day of marriage by capture. The best man helped the groom carry off his stung bride-to-be.

The wedding ring is traced back to the early Egyptians who considered a circle the symbol of eternity. The wedding "feast" goes back to primitive peoples who thought eating together constituted matrimony. The term "honeymoon" comes from northern Europe where the newlyweds drank mead, a honey wine, each day for 30 days after their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Abele, the former Miss Irene Loretta Freed, are shown after their wedding recently at Sacred Heart church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Freed, of Jasper, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Abele, of Edmonton. The couple is taking up residence in Edmonton.—Photograph by Housez studios.

Anti-Famine Plow Indian Invention

NEW DELHI, June 6 (C.P.) - Latest reports from various parts of the country show the reconstructed drawn plow has been perfected and as well as the energy of men of the Indian Army in keeping up the momentum of their all-out food drive.

CONSTITUTED wholly from broken-down tanks, a new "anti-famine" plow capable of 10 times the work of the normal bullock and tested at Raisalpur. Mounted on a three-wheeled chassis and drawn by a few, the plow has three shares, which make deep furrows even on hard dry ground.

Men of the Kutch, Regimental Centre at Ayre are finding that their counter-famine measures have them first-class training before they return to their own farms. The Centre's plowing fields, lawns and flower gardens have not escaped the plow manned by these enthusiastic agriculturists.

DURING THE NEXT seven months a large proportion of the vegetables, produced by Eastern Command should be available for in Calcutta. TA TART TET EE the civil population. Arriving at Calcutta very shortly will be 28 tons of rice and 22 tons of flour from the 28th Division, representing a one-month voluntary cut in the men's rations.

International Technical Plan Of Co-Operation Proposed

BY JOHN MARTINCOL

PARIS, July 6 (H.P.) - Scientists and engineers from all parts of the world will try to establish a system of international technical co-operation designed to contribute to world peace and progress when they meet here Sept. 18 to 22 in the first international technical congress.

THE CONGRESS, which aims for the first time to bring into working contact the world's scientific men, will unite delegates from all the United Nations as well as other countries outside of the international organization. It is being organized by an "international committee of liaison" whose membership comprises national committees in each of the United Nations and in other nations invited by the central committee.

Delegates to the congress will limit their discussions to the customary technical matters of a general nature, but will widen their scope to include considerations of world economic and social problems, especially as they enter into relationship with the scientific field.

THE PROGRAM of the meetings, which will convene in the Left Bank Maison de la Chimie (Chemistry House), will be divided into four sections. First of these sections, general technical problems regarding reconstruction and world economic development.

Under this heading, the delegates will study immediate technical problems concerned with economic recovery and reconstruction of areas, devastated by the war and "general problems of economic development." They will also consider the technicians' role in plans for long range modernization and development projects on international, national and regional scales and his methods of co-operation with universities and scientific research groups.

THE SECOND SECTION will be devoted wholly to the study of atomic energy and the repercussions of various discoveries in this field in regard to industrial evolution and technical processes. One of the leaders in this discussion will be Pierre Joliot-Curie, foremost French authority in the atomic field and the French government's High Commissioner for atomic energy.

Third section will be taken up with consideration of present day techniques in fields such as agriculture, raw materials, energy, urbanism, housing, public works, transports, communications and international trade.

Finally, the delegates will discuss present organization of the world's engineers and technicians, their mission in society, their educational programs, international exchange programs for scientists and the role they will play in various international organizations for reconstruction and social and economic development. During the course of their five day session, delegates will also make inspection trips to French industrial plants.

HISTORICAL ORGANIZATIONS in France include the French Society of Civil Engineers, the Union of French Engineers and Technicians and the Federation of French Associations and Societies of Engineers.

Acceptances of invitations to participate in the sessions have already been received from the United States, Great Britain, Belgium, Switzerland, Egypt, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, China, Argentina, Brazil, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Serbia and Lebanon.

Other nations expected to send delegates include Canada, Russia, Poland, Netherlands, the Scandinavian countries and various Latin American Republics.

A SOCIAL BLUNDER

IT WAS a terrible mistake to let the Dunce issue the invitations. That should have been done by the Lady of Fashion, who knows that guests must be chosen carefully if a party is to be successful, especially a mixed party such as the Teenie Weenies often give. The little lady wasn't even consulted and the Dunce invited everyone within shouting distance of the Teenie Weenie village. His lack of tact completely wrecked what should have been a delightful party and this is how it happened.

Gogo and the Dunce hooked the biggest fish the Teenie Weenies have ever caught. It was a perch 6½ inches long or 17¼ Teenie Weenie feet. Gogo really hooked the fish. The Dunce merely helped him hold the line until other Teenie Weenies came and landed it after a terrific battle. The fish was so big the little folk had to use a Teenie Weenie block and tackle to hoist it into the Teenie Weenie cart. It took two stout mice to pull the cart from the creek to the shoe house, and sometimes the Teenie Weenies had to put their tiny shoulders to the wheels in order to get it over a steep piece of ground. The Cook set some of the meat aside for pickling for future use, but even then there was more fish left than the Teenie Weenies could eat.

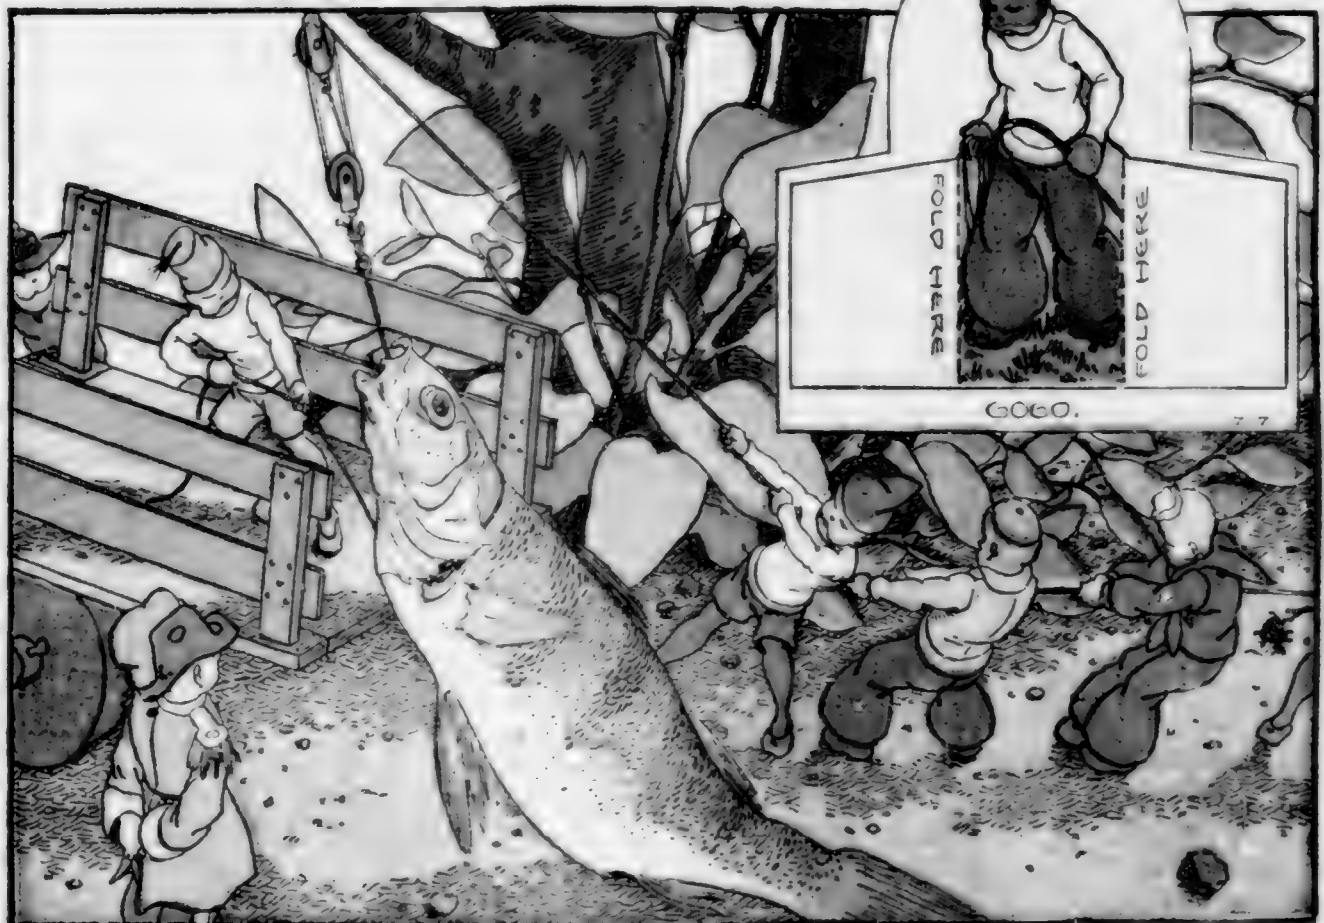

"Why not barbecue the fish and invite some of our friends in to help eat it up?" suggested the Dunce.

"That's a grand idea," answered the General. "It would be a shame to waste any of this good, fresh fish."

Some of the men built a rack out of wire. Under

The TEENIE WEEENIES

BY WM. DONAHEY

the rack other Teenie Weenies built a great fire, and when it had burned down to a bed of glowing coals they hoisted the fish on to cook. While the fish cooked the Dunce ran around the neighborhood of the Teenie Weenie village inviting everyone in sight. He invited Skippy, the chipmunk; Nick, the red squirrel; Tilly Titter, the sparrow; a blind mole, the two respectable mice, and the rhyming rabbit. Of course, the rhyming rabbit never eats fish, but he is good company and it would have been a successful party if the Dunce hadn't spoiled it all by inviting Tompkins, the cat.

There are probably a very few cats that would be agreeable in such mixed company, but Tompkins has a rather mean disposition. When he appeared the other invited guests left in a body. However, Tompkins picked the fish bones clean after the Teenie Weenies had eaten all they could hold. None of the fish was wasted, but from now on the tactful Lady of Fashion will issue all Teenie Weenie invitations.
